The Hirlons

Peter Hirlon was one of the early settlers of Barboursville. It is not known where he came from. He married Elizabeth Merrill, daughter of Capt. William and Margaret Merrill of Barboursville. Peter Hirlon's property was appraised in 1815. His wife, Elizabeth Hirlon was born about 1784, and died about 1854. She, at one time, owned all the land from the mouth of Mud River, and up Guyandotte river, just west of the old town, and extending up Water Street, along the river, as far as her father's land extended. Her home was near the house formerly occupied by George Ayers, and now owned by the State of West Virginia for hospital grounds. A complete list of their children is not known.

The following are believed to be correct.

Ann Dirlon died in the poor house, at a very old age. Buried in Kyle Cemetery.

Mary Ann Dirlon was b. 3-31-(Bele said this was on her next birth day)

Belle Dirlon said her parents were buried in the old cemetery, and her father has a tombstone. She was telephone operator for about 26 yrs. She first worked for Mrs. James Brady. M. C. Johnson bought it, and she worked up stairs over the bank till 1914, when he moved to Center Street over (a milld?) store.

She worked there till 1935. She says: "I first worked half time. Later, Mr. Johnson employed three girls. I have been on a pension since 1934. I can go to work any time I choose in case they need extra help. My father was timber man, with Uncle William, and my father's Uncle John, who lived in the Toll house. They cleared $2700 on one timber deal, and my father bought this house with his part."

My mother was Ann Shoemaker, sister of Charley Shoemaker. They came from Virginia. She had a brother, John Shoemaker, buried under the Jenkins monument at Spring Hill.

My mother also had a sister,
 Susan Snowmaker, died. She married a Mr. Defoe, and had children.
 Then she married William Glover of Kentucky. He outlived her

May 1, 1837, Elizabeth Hirlow, deed, for \$50, the toll house lot, about $\frac{1}{2}$ a., to the James River and Kanawha Co. "to erect a ferry house, and a house for toll gathering". It had a frontage of 13 poles, but was only 4 poles on the river.

The first toll gatherer was William Hirlow, he gave bond May 22, 1837, to the James River and Kanawha Co., for $1500, as collector of the tolls, he having been employed, May 1, 1837, by Ezra Walker, their agent. J. S. L. Penning went on his bond, at the "toll gate" situated at his residence, to continue until Aug. 1, 1838, and until a successor shall be appointed". (Deed Bk. 6 p. 415.)

40

Peter Hurlon was not a very wealthy man. He had but little of this world's goods, as shown by the appraisal of his small estate. His wife, Elizabeth, was administratrix.

William Hurlon estate was settled in 1851, that of Elizabeth in 1854. William's personal estate was considerable. His wife Sarah (Wentz) succeeded him a list of those attending his sale, (see my cards) consisted of nearly all the leading citizens of the community.

Oct. 26. 1868, John Hurlon, Committee for Elizabeth Hurlon, sold through J. H. Ferguson, the undivided interest of Elizabeth Hurlon, lunatic. Thos. Barnett died before the sale was completed, and the County Court ordered, on March 30, 1860, the sale to be approved, but the deed was not made to the heirs until Sept. 24, 1868 -

He had considerable property, more than any of the other Hirlons.

He was the first collector of tolls for the James River and Kanawha Co. 1837 and continued for some years.

He lived at the toll house still standing, and built by the company as they bought the land. in 1837 or 1838.

Harrison Hirlon was born 1821,
 m. Ann Shomaker, sister to Charles Shomaker at Burlington Ohio. His parents are unknown to this writer. He had no sisters and but one brother William, who went to some other section of the country and married.
 It is said he had been killed accidentally by a train. His home was on Main Street, the same property formerly occupied by James Pennell. His brother William, at one time lived almost across from him in or on the site of the house now occupied by Mr. Welch. He was a grandson of Elizabeth H. Harrison Hirlon died

(Feb. 17, 1874, at 9-43 - Death record)

Harrison Hurlon was a partner in the timber business with his brother William, and his uncle John Hurlon, who at that time, lived in the toll house, below the present Guyandotte river bridge. They cleared $2700. on one timber deal alone, and Harrison Hurlon bought his home with his part of the proceeds.

Miss Belle at first worked half time for M. C. Johnson, but the plant grew and he later employed three girls. She drew a pension since 1934, and was subject to duty at any time when extra help was needed.

There was a Philip Hirlow who was a land owner before ¹⁸³⁷~~1842~~, hence was born at least as early as ^{1816.}~~1821~~.
Who were his parents?

Marriage records show that

John Hurlon lived at the forks of the old road below the Guyandotte River bridge, at Barboursville. He kept and lived in the toll house, an old building still standing. There he kept a ferry. It is probably the oldest house in Barboursville.

Right here it may be said that records show that there was a William Hurlon who was a grown man in 1814, and had been serving as constable. Leroy Newman was appointed ^{by the court} in his stead, for two years. He gave bond with John Morris Jr. and Hughey Bowen as security. He was not the son of Peter and Elizabeth Hurlon for she was born in 1784, and probably was not married until after 1800, certainly not in time for him to have been ~~fourteen~~ twenty-one years old or older, in 1814.

Harrison Hurlon was born in 1821, and claimed to be a grandson of Elizabeth Hurlon. Who were his parents?

John Hurlon was born in 1818, hence, he was not a son of Peter and Elizabeth Hurlon. After Elizabeth Hurlon lost her mind, he was appointed her committee to look after her interests.

Harrison Hurlon had ^{but} one brother William Hurlon, who owned the property where Mr. Welch now lives. They had no sisters. ~~He left here and married. He was killed by a railroad on an accident.~~
